Mrs. Chamberlin is, an accomplished musician and a great part of her musical education was made possible by Chamberlin's work. In order that she might have the best teachers her husband has made long and hazardous flights in all sorts of weather and a large part of the money so earned went to Mrs. Chamberlin's teachers.

She is an lowa girl, coming from Independence, in the eastern part of the State, while Chamberlin comes from Denison, in the west. Much of their courtainty was carried on by plane, Chamberlin often flying across the State to visit her before their marriage eight years ago. Speaking today of his ability she said: "One reason why I have faith is that I have seen him do so many difficult things.

"Once, last winter, he flew down to Virginia and landed in a thick fog. There was no regular landing field and he had to pick out an open place large enough to land on. The section was crowded full of houses and barne and what with the thick fog it was a difficult business, but he made it. After that a flight to Berlin is like play."

Of this, she said:

"I was really pretty well fagged out and although I was worried, of course, I still had great faith in a Carence's shillity to carry on. So far as he was concerned I was practically assured and my only worry was the plans. But I was rather sure of that, too.

"You can imagine that I had been sight." The levine home stands beside the water and slept most of the night, although fituilly. I woke with a start for again. Of course, I am anxious, but I can't say I am worried, because I have such faith in Clarence."

Nevertheless, Mrs. Chamberlin must have had a worry down deep in spite of her brave attempt to appear at sess. She had luncheon at the Fenning's ere evidently following the course of the Bellanca plans across the Atlantic wastes.

But was vastly relieved when she was informed of the sighting of the Columbia by the Maurentania 300 miles of the French coast. So relieved, indeed, that she dressed and went over to Brooklyn to make a call at the home of Benator Charles Lockwood, a friend of the family.

CHAMBERLIN FORCED DOWN BY FUEL SHORTAGE NEAR BERLIN

Bellanca Airship Missing for Several Hours Brought Safely Down After Record Flight Across Atlantic Ocean from New York

BERLIN, June 6. (P)-The Bellanca plane Columbia made a forced landing this morning at Eisleben, about 110 miles southwest of Berlin. The machine was in perfect order. The landing was attributed to fuel shortage or Chamberlin losing his way.

The Columbia was refueled and started on its way to Berlin, where it was expected to arrive within an hour.

NEW YORK, June 6 (A)-At 3:15 a.m., this morning, New York time, the exact location of the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia was not definitely known. The last definite word about her, received at 11:55 p.m., Sunday night, was to the effect that she had passed Dortmund, 260 miles from Berlin, at 11:08 p.m., New York time, and inquired the way to Berlin. Advices from Berlin received shortly after 3 a.m., New York time, this morning were that there were fog and heavy rain in the German capital and that welcoming planes had failed to find the Columbia. Reports that she had been sighted over Berlin proved to be

The plane should have reached Berlin between 1 and 2 a.m., New York time, this morning if its normal progress were maintained. But Berlin has never been definitely slated to be the plane's destination.

NEW YORK, June 5 (Exclusive)—The greatest long distance flight in the history of aviation was being made tonight by the Bellanca monoplane Columbia, with Clarence Chamberlin as pilot and Charles A. Levine as his assistant.

The fliers have also established a record of personal endurance which is remarkable. Neither of them had had any sleep for twenty hours before they left, so that at Dortmund they had been awake for sixty-one hours. It is not probable that Chamberlin was able to sleep at all on the Berlin flight although Levine may have slept a little. SLOWER THAN LINDBERGH

Chamberlin's speed was somewhat less than Lind bergh's, however, for a number dently using as little fuel as possible, he took a slightly longer route to the south to avoid a storm near Ireland reported a plane fifty miles and he made slower speed on the way to Newfoundland, south of St. Pierre Miquelon. due to adverse winds. Lindbergh averaged about 107

> When Chamberlin was reported over Boulogne he had en in the air for about thirty-six hours. When he left he estimated that his 451 gallons of gasoline would ke aloft for forty-eight hours, so that if he had not been forced to use more gasoline than expected, due to head winds or climbing to avoid sleet or storms, he would have been able to go some distance beyond Berlin, if he chose. And Chamberlin said when he left he would fly his plane until the last drop of gas and come down with a "dead stick."

Chamberlin was about two hours and a half behind Lindbergh's time when he reached Plymouth. It is not possible to make an exact comparison of their times because they did not follow the same course and were not reported from the same places. But Lindbergh had flown 31 hours, 22 minutes when he reached Cherbourg en the French coast, and Chamberlin had flown 34 hours, 5 minutes when he passed Plymouth, not quite as far as

minutes when he passed Plymouth, not quite as far as Cherbourg.

PICKS UP SPEED AT SEA

Chamberlin fell behind somewhat on the trip to Newfoundland because of adverse winds, but apparently picked up speed when he got out to sea, with a strong following wind. With his customary canniness, however, he probably throttled down his motor still further to save gas and let the wind help him.

When the Mauretania sighted him he was considerably south of Lindbergh's course and an interesting explanation of this was given tonight by James H. Kimball of the local weather bureau. An area of light rain and fog had developed over England so rapidly that it could not have been foreseen when the plane left New York. Up to that time the course had been clear all the way. Chamberlin, who has been flying for years, is noted for his ability to detect adverse weather conditions forming in front of him.

"Chamberlin noticed that the clear weather was giving away to clouds and that the west winds which had been following him all the way were shifting to northerly winds," said Mr. Kimball. "Using his knowledge of meteorology, Chamberlin realized that he was flying into a stretch of bad weather.

"Then he gave what I consider a splendid exhibition of handward the changed his covered to the authority to a stretch of bad weather.

a stretch of bad weather.

"Then he gave what I consider a splendid exhibition of headwork. He changed his course to the south to avoid the unfavorable conditions, to a course where the wind would still be following him. That is why the Mauretania reported him flying far to the south of the Great Circle better velocity he got. His change of course showed that he used very good meterological judgment. Chamberlin knows what the weather signs means and his shift was splendid scientific navigation."

This explanation of Mr. Kimball's also indicates that probably Chamberlin used very much less gasoline than Lindbergh and that he may have in his tanks more than igh to carry him beyond Berlin. He is a canny flyer hen it comes to sureing a motor to its utmost, and he un-subtedly used the wind with all his skill.

After the Mauretania saw the Bellanca it was sighted he liner Transylvania off Land's End, England. Those had seen Lindbergh's plane off the Irish coast and had waited to see the Bellanca pass were disappointed because of the change Chamberlin made in his course. He was next seen over Pabstone in Cornwall at 3:45 o'clock, New York time; and off Plymouth at 4:10 o'clock. The plane was reported at the Channel Island at 5:25 o'clock and

When he passed the French coast Chamberlin was lucky in having a strong wind directly on his tail, which would again enable him to cut down the speed of his motor and save gasoline. Boulegne is only 500 miles from Berlin by air, or about five hours of flying time and Chamberlin should have had at least seven hours more of flying when he reached there. If the wind was strong enough he might be able to increase this to eight hours or more.

GAYLE R. BLAKELEY

This is the six-cylinder Sport Cabriolet that has taken the nation by storm. But there's nothing strange in that. Its vivid beauty places it in the very front rank of America's smartest cars. And its famous six-cylinder engine provides all the spirit and dash and stamina that such a swanky type requires.

Never has Fisher craftsmanship found better expression than in the graceful, rakish body, with the soft unslatted top and its nickeled landau bars. Inside and out it literally teems with style and smartness.

Spanish leather upholstery inside the cab and in the spacious rumble seat as well. Appointments that are unobtrusively rich. And a truly arresting color scheme — Brevoort Green fenders, top and quarters; Cherokee Gray Duco on body and hood; orange striping for brilliant contrast.

Never in any low-priced six has the appeal of the intimate closed car type been so admirably expressed! Never has any six of the type provided such commanding value! For here are all the basic advantages of Pontiac quality, endurance and economy, plus a smartness and style you cannot resist at a price that cannot be matched.

"The only salesmen employed by many of the most successful manufacturers in the land are Paperand-Ink salesmen. Give thought to Direct Mail representation if you are burdehed with excessive selling costs."

HERE is widespread complaint among retailers that they are obliged to devote too much of their time to interviewing manufacturers' and jobbers' salesmen. This condition makes dealers receptive to selling by mail, which permits them to consider offerings when most convenient. Moreover, this method of selling usually effects economies which results in better profits . . . and that is welcome, too!

Perhaps the solution to your sales problems lies in the employment of Direct Mail. Maybe your sales force lacks only the support of Direct Mail. In either case we can be of real assistance to you. Our Service Staff is experienced, capable, and at your disposal.

aby, by seven minutes and twenrevers seconds. Ingle Carpenter's aby Staner skimmed across the per forty-eight seconds setern of albox Baby to cinch third place.

Getting away from facts and figures, the race itself gas chush full of throbs, thefilis, user systim and not a little hard inch. Merhou's race came within an are of finishing before it inried when Jerry Wonderlich of auto-race fame piloted the specification of the hackwash caught Bloco. Merhoe was forced to stop his motor to keep from being swamped and when he got under way again, he was the hast in fine. McFibee turned his hard inch into a break for the better, however, when he potted his own compans course and headed nortane, directly for the Newport and the hast of the first out a number of the "kickers" out

CHRONIC RICKER PAST

Frank Nay's Chronic Ricker, which pulled in tenth, followed the speed boat all the way in and coverectors to fifty than thirty-two miles hay sailed a pretty race and he was unofficially timed at approximately wenty-nine miles per hour for the last fourteen miles of the chance hance

Last year the Coan meet was held two weeks before the f.C. A.A.A. meet and the competition put all the western invadges in the pink for the big entern classic. This year the latences of the affair kept several very good athletes out of the running here. Both Les thelwobeds and Elmer Boyden, California aces to the mile and half, respectively, were among those absent. The universalty sension at Berkriey classes early inst mooth, and as both men very sensions they have turned their time and talents to other pursuits. DOUBLE-DYED NEMESIS

That's what hig Bill Tilden thinks of Rene La Coste, French cennis star, who defeated him in five gruelling sets to win the international hard-court singles tennis championship at St. Cloud yesterday. This marks the second time Tilden has been mastered at the hands of the Frenchman. Photo shows La Coste and Tilden in fone embrace when Tilden defeated his rival in a match a few weeks ago. Reports of yesterday's court argument indicate that the pose below was not exactly prevalent during the match. However, it's a good picture.

Mine Bureau Offers Advice to Oil Drillers

Sampling of Various Flows Urged as Important

Plan Declared Cheapest and Best in Long Run

The importance of analyzing underground waters encountered in the course of off-drilling operations, as a means of determining the source from which these waters come, is stressed by the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Codhmerce. Water in the formations penetrated by an oil well hampers the production of crude oil in many ways. This water may be in the oil sand itself or in separate formations above or below the one that is oil bearing. Water decreases the productiveness of an oil sand, increased lifting costs, and at many wells forms emulsions with the oil.

Although it is impossible to eliminate the "edge water" that occurs naturally in the oil sand, its frequently possible to prevent other waters from entering the productive strats. In order to accomplish this successfully, one usually has to identify the water and locate the stratum from which it is coming.

In developing an oil-bearing area the producer often neglects to take samples of the various waters met, believing, no doubt, that each water will be actisfactorily shut off in every well and will therefore never give any trouble. However, the possibilities of water troubles are great, and as the field becomes older they increase.

If water troubles then occur, it is always coetly and often impossible to

Expert Calls Colorless Variety Inferior Motor Fuel Which Causes Threefold Economic Waste

AUSTIN (Tex.) June 8. (Exclusive)—Dr. Gustav Rgioff of Chicago, di-tor of chemical research of the Universal Oil Products Company, in an cress before the American Chemical Society and students of the University of Texas, predicted that the time would come soon when the sutomobile driver may buy gasoline of whatever color that suits his fancy.

The use of colored gasoline, which automobile engineers are not alive to do many motorists demand, is an interior fuel. If there should ever be a serious shortage of food products, edible oils or fate could be manufactured from petroletim, he said.

Enough featural gas was produced in the United States last year to have provided, by synthetic process, suited as for all requirements for sold went use, according to Dr. Egion.

The average motor fuel of today is to good automobiles, as well as for all requirements for sold went use, according to Dr. Egion.

The average motor fuel of today is a for all requirements for sold went use, according to Dr. Egion.

The average motor fuel of today is a for all requirements for sold went use, according to Dr. Egion.

The average motor fuel of today is sold today is only about eighty longs. If we could use higher control with the subtime for sold although the public generally believes that motor fuel, with other commodities, has deteriorated with the past. The gasoline has been treated with a side of the year 1937.

"A water-write gasoline is a depoint of the gasoline for motor fuel, it was a fuel of today is better in every say to case of starting, acceleration, volidity and antiknock properties.

Gioryhole mining of the gold deposit on the Anderson claims at Ballehelen, under lease and option to the Ben Hur Company, has begun. Trucks are back directly to the vein in the huge hole, and loaded from the deposit. Ten tons daily are going to the West End mill, with the product said by the management to average nearly 890 per ton. The deposit is said by mining engineers to rank among the most important surface discoveries of many years in Nevada. Outright purchase of the Skookulm properties of the Death Valley Gold Company for $100,000 has been announced by Chester A. Bunker, Fort Worth (Tex.) oil magnate. The group was owned principally by the Lucky Boy Divide Company. Bunker says that the property will be vigorously developed.

COLWOOD COMPANY

(Michigan Corporation)

First Mortgage Fee and Leasehold 6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds Due April 1, 1942

Price 971/2 and Interest, yielding over 61/4%

Dated April 1, 1907. Interest psyable April 2 and October 5, at the officers Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in New York and Chicago, without deduction for Federal normal income tax, not in excess of a Neper annum. Bonds will be issued in coupon form in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registrable as to principal only.

A letter from Mr. Douglas N. Taurily, President of Colwood Company, is summarised as follows:

Location: Colwood Company, a wholly owned subsidiary (except for Directors' qualifying shares) of Fox Theatres Corporation, has acquired real estate and leaseholds covering together the property having an entire block frontage on the westerly side of Wood-ward Avenue extending from Montcalm Street to Columbia Street, Detroit, Michigan. The plot embraces approximately 64,600 square feet, of which about 47,000 are owned in fee and the balance under long-term leases. Upon these premises Colwood Company is erecting the Fox Detroit Theatre Building, comprising a modern completely equipped theatre and a ten story office building with stores, all of fireproof construction. The Fox Detroit Theatre will contain approximately 5,000 seats and will be one of the most modern and largest motion picture theatres in the Middle West.

Security: These Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first (closed) mortgage on the land owned in fee, the leasehold estates and on the building to be con-structed thereon, more fully described in the Mortgage. On the basis of minimum ap-praisals of the land and building to be constructed thereon, totalling $10,547,000, these Bonds represent less than a sixty-one per cent loan.

The proceeds from the sale of these Bonds will be deposited as a trust fund with the Trustee as depositary. Except for $360,000 that may be used for the purchase of fees of two of the parcels included in the premises to be covered by the Mortgage, all funds dis-bursed by the Trustee for construction cost and carrying charges shall be paid to Colwood Company only upon presentation of certificates of the architect and certified to by the supervising architect for the Bankers.

Title insurance will be provided for the principal amount of this Issue.

Net Lease: Fox Theatres Corporation has agreed to lease the property to be covered by the Mortgage for a period beginning with the completion of the building (in any event not later than June 1, 1928) and extending five years beyond the maturity of the Bonds, at an annual net rental to the lessor of $768,000, the lessee to pay in addition as rental, all the ground rents, taxes, assessments, insurance, maintenance and operating cost on account of said property. Such rental payments will constirute an operating charge of Fox Theatres Corporation. Maximum annual interest charges on these Bonds will be $384,000; combined interest and principal $676,650.

Completion Guarantee: If the funds to be received by Colwood Company through the sale of these Bonds and to be deposited with the Trustee as depositary are not sufficient to defray the cost of erection and equipment of the Fox Detroit Theatre Building and the carrying charges until the completion thereof, Fox Theatres Corporation has agreed to pay promptly any such deficit.

Sinking Fund: The Mortgage will provide for a Sinking Fund beginning October 1, 1930 and ending October 1, 1941, operating through Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., to redeem Bonds, semi-annually at a rate sufficient to retire $3,282,000 principal amount by October 1, 1941.

Earnings: The principal executives of Fox-Theatres Corporation estimate that the annual gross income from the property to be leased, applicable to the payment of the charges under the net lease, will be $1,630,779, and that the net profits, available for depre-ciation and Federal taxes, accruing to Fox Theatres Corporation through the operation of the Fox Detroit Theatre Building after operating expenses, taxes, insurance and rentals (including the annual net rental under the terms of the net lease of $768,000), will

Management: Fox Theatres Corporation, directly or through subsidiaries, operates 23 theatres, 18 of which are in New York and the surrounding area. Through ownership of a majority of the common stock of Roxy Circuit, Inc., it also controls the Roxy Theatre, New York City, which is the largest and finest theatre of its type in the world. Fox Theatres Corporation and its subsidiaries, including Colwood Company, lessor, are con-trolled and managed by Mr. William Fox and associates who have been engaged in the motion picture business since 1904. The Fox enterprises cover every branch of that industry, including production, distribution and exhibition; production includes feature films, comedies and news reels. Distribution is effected through a world wide organization,

GROWTH PRENOMENAL

The growth of deciduous fruit shipments from California has been phenomenal, increasing from a total of 4411 carioads in 1886 to a total of 98,795 carioads in 1925 and 78,805 carioads in 1925 and 78,805 carioads in 1925. In 1924, 1925 and 1928, California produced 2,040,000 tons of grapes, as compared with 106,700 tons in New York, 60,900 tons in Michigan, and 29,100 tons in Ohio, while in 1924 California shipped 6012 carloads from all other States. California also shipped more plums and spricots than all other States combined, the latter being essentially a California fruit, which is not produced in any quantity elsewhere in the United States.

Since 1920 the prices received for California deciduous fruits in the East have steadily seclined, following the readjustment of economic conditions since the war. At the present time, the industry is facing a severe depression, which can be materially alleviated by a reduction in the freight rates. In 1926 transportation costs consumed no less than 43 per cent of the amounts received for fruits shipped to eastern destinations.

The contended by the California Railroad Commission that if the freight costs could be lowered it would assist in placing the deciduous fruit industry upon a more stable basis and in a more solvent position, and would result in affording a real and substantial relief to this industry.

To protect the public against improperly de-gned and inefficient gas appliances, the American Gas Association recently established a Lab-eratory for testing the design, efficiency and afety of gas appliances of every sort.

This Laboratory has the approval and support of the United States Bureau of Standards, United States Bureau of Mines, and the United States Public Health Service.

Many of these approved appliances can be seen at our free appliance display on the eighth floor of our main office, 810 South Flower Street, Los Angeles.

We have nothing to sell, but are glad to answer ns about the cost, operation, and place to uy these appliances.

Diogram and section is consistent and the section of the substitutes. These "Flying Fannies," as they have been termed, are, of course, by no means as numerous as the speeders of the sterner. It is well to be contented but it is had to live in a rut. This educator therefore foins in boosting the subdivider and the realtor. These though this may be for the reason that not so many women as men drive cars. For the most part they belong to a lively class that loves the excitement of a wild dash along street or highway, but once along the mind and body as well as the eye. If a man moves into a new home every six or seven years it gives him breadth and pesspective. According to that some of these unfortunates who move every month just ahead of the collector must be a mile wide.

THE MUDDLERS

The imperative necessity of cleaning house at the City Hall and electing a new City Council was never more clearly shown than in the Council's handling of the municipal transfer of the council's handling of the municipal transfer of the council's handling of the municipal transfer of the council of the cou of all kinds. Many American and European cities have them and others are being established rapidly to meet modern transportation needs.

A board of directors of a successful business, having been given such a job, at once would have consulted disinterested aviation and airport experts to determine the best location for the Los Angeles air depot that could be secured and would have consulted disinterested land experts to determine the fair price that should be paid for the site. On the basis of this information the Council would then have been in a position to recommend a site to the people and to take steps to finance it.

Did the present City Council pursue this common-sense course? Loud laughter is heard from the people who have watched the present City Council of clowns, politicians and incompetents play at being business men at work for the best interests of Los Angeles. As a gesture, an advisory committee of citizens was appointed and then not further consulted. One or two "hearings" were held, attended mostly by people with property to sell. Then the matter went into the subcellar, darklantern stage for weeks, when suddenly the Council committee recommended the Bandini site at $4500 an acre, retusing to consider another larger, cheaper and, in the view of some experts, better sits. The members of the Advisory Committee thereupon properly tendered their resignations to the Council, saying that they did not desire to be connected in any way with any such proceedings. This action aroused the public and frightened the Council will go down on the pages of the governmental history of Los Angeles as a Council of muddlers—or worse.

the constitutional amendment voted last November. The bill follows the provision spensored by the Farm Bureau and termed the Fademi Pian because the theory of representation is by area in the upper house and by population in the lower.

The immediate effect of the change in the constitution is to give control of the Senate to the rural counties and control of the Assembly to the cities, or rather the three densely populated counties, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda. Los Angeles county will have one Senator in stead of eight an twenty-two Assemblymen instead of fifteen.

The Assembly delegation accorded Los Angeles county is on the basis of the 1920 census. It is probable that following the 1830 census we will have close to a majority of the eighty Assemblymen and in the next decade absolute coutrol of the lower house appears assured. This will mean definite estopping of the favorite legislative pastime of passing legislation prejudicial to Los Angeles.

For the past faw years Los Angeles has been forced to assume a defensive attitude. She has attempted no counter-offensive, reserving all her strength to beat off attacks on hisraelf. It is a comfort to feel that sometime as will be asfe from the combinations San Francisco politicians force on the rural ageth.

San Francisco now proposes a referential of the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and the constitution are the constitution and t

The AMERICAN OBJECTIVE

The best efforts of critics of America to prove that the people of the United States are dollar-mad commercialists and have no soul for art nor a heart for cultured refinements have failed wretchedly. Americans love beauty. On every hand american love beauty. States are dollar-mad commercialists and have no soul for art nor a heart for cultured refinements have falled wretchedly. Americans love beauty. On every hand appear emphatic proofs of their desire for the highest things that life affords. Americans, however, are practical devotees of culture and as such have become votaries of industry which is the great prop that heeps culture upon a plane where man may reach it.

The American people constitute the world's greatest patron of all the fine arts and all manner of culture. Like a husbandman who tolls by day and returns at gvening to enjoy the comforts of his hearth, America is working and progressing at a furious pace to improve the condition of overy class, thus assuring to all an oppor-tunity to enjoy the finer side of life when leisure hours permit. In fact, it may be said, that the American objective is a de-mocracy of culture appropriate by a democracy of culture appropriate and a second culture appropriate and a second culture appropriate control of the culture of the culture appropriate control of the culture of t

Perhaps it could be demonstrated that the proportion of leading minds engaged in cultural pursuits is small in modern America as compared with the number following such careers in past decades or in certain foreign countries, but the more significant fact is that the proportion of Americans with an appreciation of the highest things in life and the whorewithal to avail themselves of them is greater than any mation has ever before boasted.

Even in ancient Greece, where culture eached its artistic apogee, it was necesreached its artistic apogee, it was necessary for the mass to toll in the dark in order that the fortunate might bathe in brilliant light. Today art can be disseminated at an almost negligible cost and pleasurable refinements come within the easy reach of persons who in the days of Rome's glory probably would have been chained in the emperor's galleys sweating at the toll of enslaved carsman. The fallacies of national success have been swept aside in the United States where everyone demands a share of life's jeys for everybody rather than a few eternal monuments for an eligarchy of culture.

Collectively, and often through their wealthy captains of industry, the people

Collectively, and often through their wealthy captains of industry, the people procure the best the world affords in fine arts, music and monumental culture and America has become the leading market and land of promise for the world's ranking geniuses. The home of Mr. John Henry American would astound Plate and lastingly ingratiate Leonardo could they be week-end guests, while Beethoven and Schubert doubtless would unpack their baggage and decide to remain permanently.

What then is the ultimate objective—

What, then, is the ultimate objective-What, then, is the ultimate objective—if life in America has a continuous purpose? Is it not the extension of the democracy of industry and the democracy of culture to every family in the United States? And thereafter follows the expansion of this human program of happiness for all to every corner of the earth where nationals can be made to understand that the great republic wills through its democratic principles to contribute all it can to uplifting the standard of living everywhere without infringing in any manner where without infringing in any manner upon a sovereign people. Pamine, hunger, poverty, pestilence and want do not consort with the cultural arts and the sweet pleasures of life. Amer-icans work for dollars because they can use them to pave paths to happiness and when the whole world joins hands in a common endeavor for the pursuit of real happiness one more objective of a living democracy will be attained.

The copening of Hill street from Sixth to Righth streets improved transportation facilities for thousands of citizens are made possible without incurring shy comparable offsetting inconveniences. Reprecying the lack of surface transportation in the west and northwest is made possible by Proposition No. 8 in that bussee can be routed on Bersely Boulevard to Mint street through the Second-eltrest tunnel and down fill street, using a portion of the curb space at Fershing Square as a terminus.

"Proposition No. 8 is not a bond lesse and adds no burden to the taxpayer. It is also nompolitical, being placed on the ballot at the instigation of the board for the cole purpose of giving che public a service that is desired.

"Busses bring their patrons into the city quickly and unload them safely and answer the demand of people in the residential sections for a direct comfortable means of transportation into the deventown business district.

The convenience of the public demands that a favorable vigit be cast on Freposition No. 8."

FILM EXTRA POISON VICTIM

Girl Found Dead in Room With Farewell Letters Addressed to Mother and Friends

With several farewell letters addressed to "Darling Mother" and to friends. Patricia Marshall, pretty stenographer and former extra girl, 19 years or age, was found dead in her room at 1836 North Wilson late yesterday, presumably from poisoning. Police believe that death wilson late yesterday, presumably strom poisoning. Police believe that death was self-inflicted. Although the letters, some of them apparently written aoune time before Her death and never mailed, upbraided the people to whom they were sideressed for coldness and lack of attention, it is believed that in-trospection and not disappointment in love was the cause of her death. The girl had lived alone in the apartment for several months while she was attending the Hollywood Secretarial School. She had several acquaintances but seemingly few close friends.

INGLEWOOD, June 5.—Amouncement of the birth of a child, and the fact that it was a son, to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lamb of Ittawa. Kan, reached the Southland the day before the baby's arrival, was the story told here today by Ralph P. Lamb, cashier of the Bank of Inglewood, on his return from a family dinner with his parents, Mr, and Mrs. C. P. Lamb of Prandens.

The announcement came from the proud father to the grandparents by long distance phone. It was I am of Friday in Kanasa City when the father got in his call to his parents, but because of the two hours difference in time, it was only II pm. on Thursday in that city when the new-ty made grandparents heard the giad news. Hence, the new arrival was heralded here a day before his actual calendar birthday.
